

FINDING RELATIVES TO WORK WITH YOU ON WWW.ANCESTRALLOGS.COM —

You can always call Grandma or Grandpa and ask for contact information for their descendants and for their cousins, but other websites can contain more distant relatives that are already working on genealogy. Here's a few...

FAMILYSEARCH.ORG

1. On your family tree, click on the ancestor that you want to find descendants for. Go to their person page, then click details.
2. On the right side of the details screen click on Latest Changes and click show all. Each submitter's name is on the right under the change date. This includes all submissions to memories, sources, and changes to the details page.
3. Click on the submitter's name to see their contact information if it is listed or send them a message through FamilySearch and invite them to work with you on Ancestral Logs.

ANCESTRY.COM

1. Select an individual from your family tree. Click Member Connect from the menu under their name. This will show you other people's trees that contain that ancestor.
2. A list of other trees will display, click on the name of the person it was added by. Click the message box under their name to send them a message inviting them to work with you.

MYHERITAGE.COM

1. Select an individual from your family tree. Click research this person on the left of the screen.
2. Select Family Trees from the left side of the screen. The results list will contain family trees from many different websites. You can search by website on the left side or just look through the list on the right for those that match your ancestor. You can narrow the search by filling in details at the top.
3. Look at the results that match your ancestor. Click on the name after "managed by" to go to their profile.
4. Scroll to the bottom and click "contact" to send them a message inviting them to work with you.
